First Class Night Train

Hardly a screw stayed in place when converting this from a stock bike to a custom bike, and while for this Night Train at the same time a comprehensive motor tuning was planned at Rick's in Baden-Baden, the whole bike was dismantled. The frame was needed "naked" anyway, because all seams were filled with liquid tin and then smoothed out.

The work on the engine was done by G&R in Walsheim in Germany, and the result sounds promising: 1,920 ci, 122 hp and massive 159 Nm...any questions?
