Wild to wilder - CVO Road Glide 2024

Modified from stock CVO exclusive Tourer to Rick's Clubstyle - CVO Road Glide ST with the distinctive Rick's Motorcycles "touch".

During the model year 2024, Harley-Davidson celebrated a quarter of a century of exclusive CVO custom-built specials. Since 1999, Harley-Davidson has been building special customized bikes, upgraded with selected Harley-Davidson accessories in its own department. A department named "Custom Vehicle Operations" (CVO) that has been continuously expanded over the years, feeding the ever-increasing demand for individual bikes. But it's not just the chrome or custom parts for (which you would otherwise have to put a lot of money on the counter) that characterizes these special models: In recent years, the CVO limited editions have also become the "spearhead" in terms of performance and technology. The most powerful and largest displacement engines are installed in these motorcycles, often years before they are introduced in the production bikes. The 121 cubic inch Milwaukee Eight of this CVO Road Glide ST can trace its existence in almost direct line from the racing machines of the US "King of the Bagger" racing series and is a true performer: Featuring a hot camshaft, the 1977 cc V-twin delivers a whopping 127 hp to the rear wheel at 4900 rpm - and the "red zone" in the REV counter is at 5,900! 197 Nm of torque are already available at 4000 rpm - if ever there was an authentic Harley Clubstyle base, then this Performance Bagger is it!
