Iron Bobber

For a long time the Harley-Davidson Sportster models were the company's entrance models, and especially the Iron with its 883 cc. Meanwhile even smaller and cheaper models are being offered, but that doesn't make the Sportster uncool. The model series based on the Evolution engine is, apart from Flatheads, the Harley that has been in production the longest, with the Evo Sportster having been available since 1986 with only small changes. At Rick's they have taken this long-time popular bike and performed magic to create a respectable Bobber.
