Hot Rod Bagger

If you don't believe that colour and paint can make a difference, then this bike will be a good argument for design and colour choice! Only because of choice of colour and graphic design is this Bagger conversion by Rick's Motorcycles a stylish presentation. But before the air brushers from Auto & Lack could go to work, hard custom work had to be done: the customized FLHX Street Glide was built preserving Rick's high standard Tourer look, using Rick's Motorcycles' Bagger product line parts. What stands out on this bike is that not everything that was technically and stylistically possible was done, and it is almost a budget conversion. But the result is still spectacular, combining design and components perfectly.
